The past may have its "good old days";
they say the present really "swings";
the future—who knows?
But—"Shall not loveliness be loved forever?"*

(Fur rides)

The 1969 STOTONIAN reflects the "good old days" as well as the "swinging" present;
the future—who knows?
—with full faith in the destiny of our world,
the yearbook staff dedicates the 1969 STOTONIAN to the next hundred years.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

TO THE CLASS OF 1969:

I am pleased to greet you as Chairman of the Stoughton School Committee and as a fellow-alumnus of Stoughton High School. On behalf of the school committee, I salute you on completion of your high school education. We have endeavored to provide you with facilities and faculty that will enable you to mature mentally and physically. We hope that your future accomplishments will serve as a reward not only to your parents, but to all the citizens of Stoughton who have supported our educational program despite financial strain and sacrifice.

I commend to you the memory of the century of graduating classes who have preceded you. You, the present, link with those of us who have gone before; together, we have molded the image of Stoughton High School for those who will come in the future. Whatever your future abode, we urge that through community involvement you display an awareness of the obligations of citizenship. No matter where you reside, you will never be able to erase the memory you hold of your classmates and for the high school from which we both have graduated.

Cordially,

KENNETH A. HILL
Chairman
Stoughton School Committee

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the Class of 1969:

This year's graduation marks a milestone in your personal lives and in the history of the Stoughton Public Schools. From a personal perspective, graduation signifies the attainment of a challenging and rewarding goal; for the school system, it commemorates the centennial anniversary of the first class to be graduated from Stoughton High School.

These dual celebrations represent in a microcosmic way the commitment to public education that has undergirded this nation's growth. As each generation received its educational legacy, it has made greater contributions to the educational welfare of succeeding generations. The distinctive honor, therefore, that inheres to this Centennial Class also carries a mantle of special responsibility that asks to foster the growth of educational excellence in your individual lives and in the community at large.

In closing, may I extend to each of you my best wishes for your future success and happiness.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, reading "Joseph H. Gibbons". The signature is written in a cursive style with a large, stylized "J" and "G".

Joseph H. Gibbons

ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT

To the Class of 1969:

Congratulations on this memorable occasion. The attainment of a high school diploma is a significant event. However, a more critical issue is the extent to which your involvement in and exposure to the educational experiences of this school system has made you a better person. If your intellectual capabilities have been heightened, if you are prepared to participate actively in this democratic society, and if you have a genuine concern for other people, then your diploma has a special meaning.

This class deserves additional recognition because it is the 100th graduating class of Stoughton High School. As members of the Centennial Class, you should not only be extremely proud of this special honor, but you should also be mindful of the long history of educational excellence in this community. Your class will make the first imprint in this new century of Stoughton education—hopefully, this mark will be a distinguished one.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Thomas J. Whalen". The signature is written in dark ink and is positioned below the word "Sincerely,".

Thomas J. Whalen, Ed.D.

PRINCIPAL

To The Class of 1969:

Congratulations upon the successful completion of your high school education. This achievement will certainly realize great rewards for you as time goes on. Perhaps for some of you, the tremendous value of your accomplishment is readily apparent and has opened doors for you. For others, it may not be quite so evident. This has been a story repeated many times during the past century.

Your class has the distinction of being the Centennial Class. For 100 years, students have been graduated from the Stoughton High School. Experience has shown that these graduates have been well prepared and have accomplished wonderful things over the years.

I am sure that you too will prove yourselves and make your contributions to society. Good luck and best wishes to all of you—may you enjoy happy and prosperous lives.

Sincerely,

Peter J. Sperandio, Ed.D.

ARTHUR L. PENARDI
Assistant Principal

As a former graduate I welcome you to the ever increasing ranks of Stoughton High School Alumni.

Although there are many years between your graduation and mine, there does exist a common bond which can be found exemplified in the inscription on the front of Stoughton High School. It reads as follows: "Dedicated to Citizenship."

As each generation assumes its role of leadership, it must likewise maintain and develop its educational institutions in order that an intelligent and informed citizenry will prevail.

I extend my best wishes to each of you for your future success and happiness.

ROBERT J. McLAUGHLIN
Administrative Assistant

Goals are never fully and finally reached, for a goal once reached becomes the threshold to a host of other goals. This is the key to a rewarding and successful life—always to have before you goals sufficiently worthwhile to call forth from within the greatest in effort and the most noble in aspiration. Your graduation, though it is a goal now reached, is aptly termed "Commencement" for it opens the doors to newer goals and higher achievements. This is the best we can wish each of you—that you continually set goals that are worthy of your finest effort and dedication.

ALBERT C. WILLIAMSON
Director of Guidance

The Class of 1869 graduated from Stoughton High School after a period marked by racial problems, the assassination of a president, and the aftermath of a war that tore our country apart. Somehow its members managed to survive this turbulent period to make a significant contribution to community, state, and nation.

The Class of 1969, one hundred years later, also faces an uneasy future after a period marked by war, racial tensions, and presidential assassination. However, you go out to meet the world with a far better preparation in terms of modern educational programs, facilities, and supplementary services.

What you do with your training will greatly affect the welfare of our community and nation.

Best wishes for a happy and productive future.

MR. FRANK JARDIN
Advisor

It is fitting that our advisor, Mr. Frank Jardin, was an instructor in the junior high school when we were there, and came to the high school as we moved up. As our advisor, he has been a motivating force behind many of our activities. His guidance at class assemblies, and his injunctions to "Pay your class dues" and "Remember—one cake from each student" were done with one thought in mind—to make the Class of '69 a memorable one. Any afternoon, a visit to Room B203 would reveal a roomful of seniors discussing our latest class projects with Mr. Jardin needling, cajoling, and issuing wise precepts. A good man, an excellent leader, and a good friend—the Class of 1969 is pleased to salute our class advisor—Mr. Frank Jardin.

The Class of 1969 introduced several new ideas to the Stoughton school community. One of our more daring innovations was the decision to do away with the customary practice of voting for homeroom representatives to the executive committee. This was replaced by a more discriminating method. This past year, our executives were selected by Mr. Jardin and the class officers. The choice was based on the proven dedication of the selectees and their obvious willingness to work for the class. The results have borne out the wisdom of this method. Mr. Jardin says that this executive committee is "very cooperative, active, and quite responsive." They have demonstrated these qualities in their efforts to make this centennial senior class at Stoughton the best one yet.

The class of 1969 is unique. Our class is composed of individuals who have been working and enjoying themselves together for four exciting years. The end product—satisfaction and many happy memories.

Freshman year: We were self-conscious, and insecure. We were new among other things like the addition of buildings (What's an "A" building) and the first school musical, "Camelot" with Dick Lindelof as the star, Lancelot.

Mr. Jardin came up from the Junior High with us and became our advisor. Our first class officers were Eddie Kelleher, Kathy Doyle, Joanne Burns, and Donna Robertson. They led us through a shaky but successful first year with "Festival of Summer", the dance, and a cake sale (all profit!).

OUR FRESHMAN YEAR

Representing the class in the Student Council were Kerrie Brooks, Carole McCarey, Linda Fisher, Mike Troy, and Kevin Yetman.

The J.V. Cheerleaders were Joanne Hickey, Kathy Briody, Linda Ruscito, Carole McCarey, and Doris Swanberg.

From the very start our class was active and contributed to all phases of school activity.

Already Barbara Hern was starting her high school career as an outstanding star in girls' sports. And in boys' sports the names Kirk Buschenfeldt, Steve Fitzpatrick, Kent Powell, John Sperandio, and Rich Whittaker were among those who held talent which was to give the class of '69 a great name.

Yes, it was a very good year. And now our Sophomore year . . .

1966-67

The blur begins to focus. We have gained an ounce of confidence.

In the fall we watched Paul Everett, Eddie Kelleher, Nippy Ruggerio, Steve Vail, and the guys of the field and we knew all the cheers. We saw our addition to the Majorettes—Bonnie Ryan, Patty Rivers, Francine Silva, Karen McShea, performing at the half. Jutta Ensin and Judy Correia were leading the Drill Team.

The endless winter . . .

With three new officers Mike Troy, Barbara Homer Linda Fisher and Kathy Doyle, a veteran, our treasury gained weight—another cake sale and (remember?) . . . S.A.G.R.O.F.Y.!

OUR SOPHOMORE YEAR

On and on . . . "The King and I", "The Miracle Worker", with Gail Rayner as Aunt Ev and Joanie O'Connor as Vinney, the maid. Laureen Abril, Joan and Mary Mason, Teri Brien—all working hard behind stage. Dress rehearsals . . . lights!

Gymnastics—Carole McCarey, Kerrie Brooks, Lisa LaCivita, Connie Whitten (remember her?), Joan Buckley, Sue Barley—grace and balance.

It was the year of the biology lab, the Ski Club, Mainstreams.

But then without a warning came an unforgettable, unbeatable year . . .

1967-68

It seemed incredible—we were upperclassmen, wearing school rings, good seats at the rallies.

In the fall—the radiance of the Red Sox and all those classes we missed to watch the World Series!!!

Varsity Cheerleaders Kathy Briody, Shelley Ostis, Joanne Hickey, Linda Johnson, and Doris Swanberg were cheering for Juniors who were now Varsity stars.

Karen Kalen's dream—outstanding star, Maria, in "The Sound of Music."

The Impossible Dream—basketball, league champ and the Tech Tourney . . . spirit . . . tension . . . hope . . . pride. Our class was honored to have some of the best players—Kent Powell, Frank Compagnone, Rich Whittaker, John Pechonis, Kirk Buschenfeldt, Bill Roache, Joe Pascarella—the unbeatables . . . a season to remember.

OUR JUNIOR YEAR

Gay nineties, horses, stripes, and April vacation in A407—that's what proms are made of. "Carousel"—a dream come true. Joanne Hickey, our queen of an enchanted cafeteria(?) . . . and then, of course, the Cape.

Andy Williams' sweatshirts, booster buttons, P.Y.D. Day . . . our class officers Eddie Kelleher, Kathy Doyle, Joanie O'Connor, and Linda Fisher lead us through an extremely successful year with the unlimited patience of a certain advisor.

As we turned around, the seniors were leaving—memories of marshals, usherettes, and the Daisy Chain! . . . seeing how it's done . . . "Are they really crying?!"

The year hurried by leaving us the very best of memories. And then it finally came . . . SENIORITY.

Midst the concern of College Boards and applications came the Spaghetti Supper . . . "Those Were the Days" . . . Joanne Hickey, Lyn Fichera, Sue Barley, and Shirley Smith singing "Won't You Come Home Bill Baily" . . . "Zorba, the Greek" and the five to six o'clock shift . . . and delicious spaghetti cooked by worldly acclaimed chefs—the senior boys! And when the fun ended in the cafeteria we hurried across the street to Paul's.

It was a fine autumn The cross country team had a good season . . . the field hockey team had improved tremendously . . . and the football team brought us many great games and honors.

Colder days came and more plans . . . a profitable cake sale and an entertaining rally . . . and endless hours on stage rehearsing . . .

OUR SENIOR YEAR

1968-69 . . OUR SENIOR YEAR

The approaching Christmas brought with it the first signs of the epidemic—"Senioritis"! . . . college boards, applications, and acceptances (?) . . . basketball games.

Santa's Dream—the Christmas dance . . . Christmas trees of Ivory Snow and candy canes . . . Mr. and Mrs. Claus and the elves . . . and the long awaited announcing of the superlatives—a night of happiness always to remember.

Midyears (oh, to be a member of the Honor Society!) . . . the year was only half over . . . we were looking forward to that big week, that very special week—Senior Week! . . . the class trip, and graduation.

CLASS OF 1970

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE—JUNIOR CLASS

With the two-fold project—the sale of jackets and stuffed animals, the annual cake sale, the distribution of class rings, and an all-out drive for dues, the class of '70 barely survived the turmoils of junior activities. Topping the list of events was the Junior Prom. The prom, held in the high school cafeteria, carried the theme of "Three Coins in a Fountain."

Leading the class were class officers Mike Duffy, DeeDee Yaitanes, Gayle Webster, and Sue Smith. Mr. Sarno was advisor for the third year. The class only hopes for a successful and exciting senior year.

In athletics there are great prospects for next year. Alan Crosby and John O'Donnell will be co-captains of the football team, and with the help from some already familiar varsity players—Joe Rafalko, Errol Austin, Marty Kwedor, and Kenny Gilpatrick—they will hustle the team to victories. Steve Smith and Frank Sereno were elected captains of the basketball team. Bill Lyons and Richard Fitzpatrick are two other juniors who will be playing next year. Of course, who can forget the key player of both Tech Tourney teams—Bernie DeVaughn!

Junior Bill Lyons, as president of the Student Council led his class as well as his school, with the other junior members of the Stu-C—Paul Lonergan, Mike Duffy and Steve Jacobs.

Many juniors participate in the drama world at SHS. Although the class did not win the tournament of plays with "The Lottery", the extremely large cast impressed with its spirit. For the all-school play, The Bad Seed, Donna Perdigao was selected for a lead role.

CLASS OF 1971

Steve Clark, (president), John Ciulla, (treasurer), Miss Pratti, (advisor), Paula Olsiewski, (vice-president), Patrice Whalen, (secretary).

After a successful and profitable freshman year, featuring a cake sale and dance, "Happiness Is . . .," the class of 1971 is again anticipating an enthusiastic year of activities.

The sophomores have already shown achievements in dramatic as well as athletic areas in the school. The class won the Annual Tournament of Plays, with Linda Dugas and Frank Jay receiving Best Actress and Best Actor awards respectively.

Under the guidance of their new advisor, Miss Pratti, and the leadership of officers Steve Clark, Paula Olsiewski, John Ciulla and Patrice Whalen, the class had already made plans for the success of its cake sales and a dance on January 25. The first cake sale, held November 9 proved to be quite profitable and exemplifies the spirit shared by the class as a whole.

OFFICERS—Alan Caldwell (treasurer), Kevin Abramson (vice-president), Mr. Woodruff (faculty advisor), Kevin Kelley (president), Marilyn Kwedor (secretary).

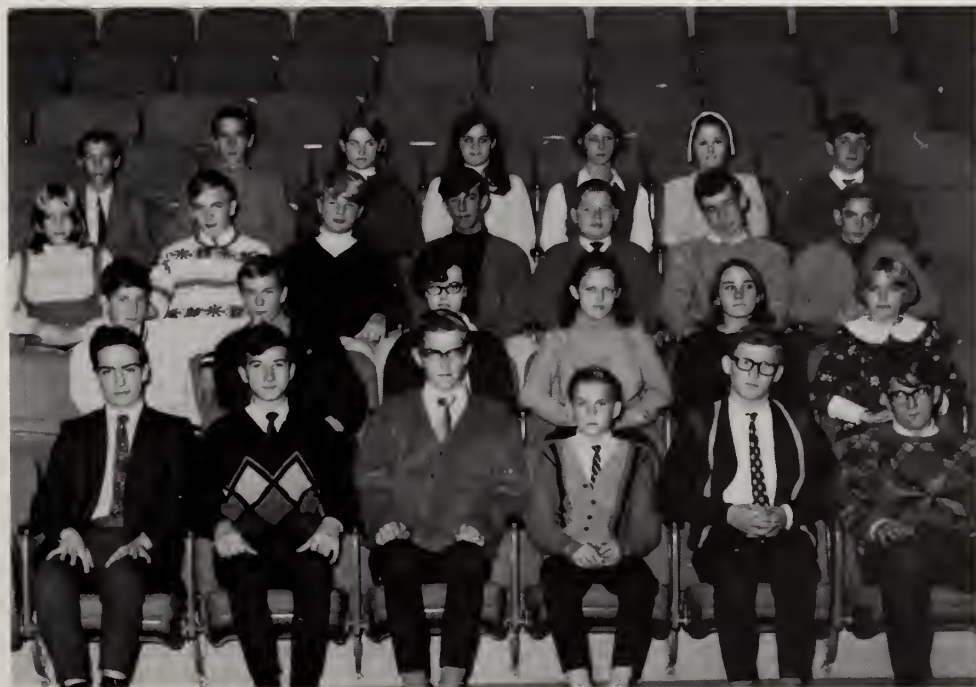

Although they are still “finding their way” in the high school, the freshmen give every indication that they will make their mark in Stoughton High history before they graduate four years from now. They have set one mark already—they are the largest class in SHS history. Kevin Kelley not only made the varsity as a freshman but was selected to be defensive signal caller. In drama, the freshman entry in the tournament of plays did very well. Academically, the number of those on the honor roll from the Class of 1972 is high. The class has just elected officers for the first time and is late getting started. However, plans are being made for a cake sale or other fund-raising activity and for a dance.

The Majorettes, under the leadership of Captain Francine Silva and Co-captains Patricia Rivers and Bonnie Ryan, have added pride and enthusiasm to the spirit of Stoughton High. During the past football season, the girls performed at half-times with new routines and the favorite, twirling with fire. The senior girls of this group are: Karen McShea, Cheryl Ryan, Mary Papsadore, Dorothy Dostoomian, Shirley Smith, and Susan Doody. The underclassmen are junior Deborah Conrad and sophomores Patricia Green, Holly Hill, and Mary Kilgoar.

DRILL TEAM

MARCHING BAND

The SHS Marching Band in conjunction with the Drill Team has presented some very interesting and exciting half-time shows through the football season. It can also be seen representing SHS in all the parades on national holidays throughout the year.

MUSICOLOGY

The Music Education Department has expanded its curricular offerings. This year, Musicology I was offered to talented students as an elective.

STAGE BAND

The one and only! This talented group of performers will surely find music a lucrative field. The performance ability of each one is top-notch. The group provides music for the Junior Prom and the latest swing music for the concert stage.

MUSIC

CONCERT BAND

The Concert Band has provided much entertainment throughout the school year. Its talented members have shown great proficiency in playing with Myron Florin and presenting outstanding performances both as a group and individually. Several students have represented SHS in the various Festivals during the year—a great credit to our school.

MUSIC

PERCUSSION ENSEMBLE

Who ever thought a drum could do more than tap a rhythm? Have you heard the SHS Percussion Ensemble? A one-of-a-kind musical group on the South Shore, this talented group of percussionists use everything from legitimate instruments to bottles, cowbells, etc. An exciting group to hear!

For the second time in three years, Stoughton High was the host to more than 500 musicians from high schools ranging from Boston to the Cape. The occasion was the Southeast Music Festival. Mr. LeGrow was chairman, and Stoughton High performers were Steven Delello, David Wilczewski, and Jeanne Doucet, instrumentalists; Donna Robertson, Gail Raynor, Richard Lindelof, and James Carlino, vocalists.

SOUTHEAST MUSIC FESTIVAL

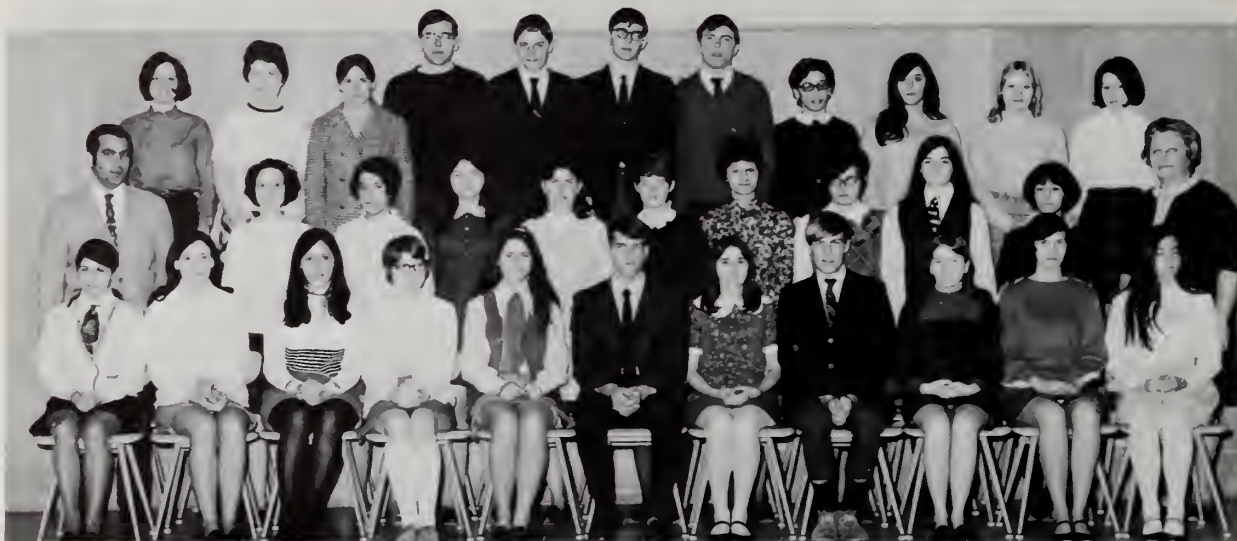

CHORUS

What is musical comedy without music? The SHS Chorus has grown both in numbers and talent in recent years. The use of their voices has become a pleasure both to themselves and to the audiences who hear them. Many of the outstanding voices have represented us at the festivals and some are performing in various local musical groups and choirs.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The National Honor Society is under the leadership of Mr. Cabral and Mrs. Savicki. Eligibility depends on maintaining a 90% average for five consecutive terms. Once inducted, the members must retain an 88% average. The selling of candy is a major project of this society. The money earned is set aside for a scholarship to be awarded at graduation. This year Stoughton High will host the annual convention of the Southeastern Massachusetts Region of National Honors Society Chapters. The officers are: President, Dana Eagles; Vice-President, Jutta Ensin; Secretary, Suzanne Converse; Treasurer, Richard Kane.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council, under the direction of Mr. Galante, has once again assumed a high level of importance at Stoughton High. This group has sent gifts to the service men of Stoughton in Vietnam. To add to the Christmas spirit, the Student Council sponsored a Christmas Basket Drive to help the families in town. In the fall, the Student Council conducted a collection for the John Goff Memorial. The officers are: President, William Lyons; Vice-President, Evelyn Fichera; Secretary, Carole McCarey; and Treasurer, Kathleen Carpenter.

The CRUSADER continues to fulfill a double role: as the communications arm for the students and faculty, and to provide a training ground for students who wish to learn the fundamentals of journalism. This year, the Crusader has tried several formats. An innovation was a series of weekly news-supplements which met with great success. The Crusader received Second Award in the New England Press Association Competition; it won first prize in Editorial in the Massachusetts Editors' Competition.

The aides to Mrs. Vogel are a necessity in our busy health office. With their assistance, Mrs. Vogel is able to get more things done. It is also a good experience for those girls who are planning some kind of career in nursing.

CLINIC AIDES

DRAMA

Because of the lack of time for both teachers and pupils the drama area of Stoughton High is able to grow in numbers only. More and more students each year are becoming involved in different phases of drama. With no room to grow, the Drama Department is working to improve the quality of its work rather than the quantity. New ideas are being introduced constantly. This year the Junior High is having its first play tournament—"Challenge." Another new idea for next year at the High is a debating team.

Drama starts as soon as school begins in September. Rehearsals for the class plays begin right away. This year the competition was held on October 19. The plays included "Still Alarm", freshmen; "Why I Am a Bachelor", the sophomores; "The Lottery", juniors; "The Balcony Scene", seniors. The sophomore play was awarded the first-place trophy.

At Thanksgiving, a classroom production, "The World of Carl Sandburg," directed by Mr. Dolan, an intern teacher from Boston College, was presented to the freshmen and sophomores in assembly.

In December, the senior class presented "The Mouse That Roared."

The all-school musical, "The Wizard of Oz" was presented three times during the February vacation. "The Bad Seed" was designated as this year's all-school play and will be presented in April.

For their final examination, Mr. Stott's acting class will put on a play. The competition play this year is "A Slight Ache."

Besides the high school productions, several students have taken part in local community productions—"Brigadoon" and "Aladdin's Lamp."

Players in the prize-winning Sophomore Class play, "Why I Am A Bachelor": John Rayner, Frank Jay, Linda Dugas, Karen Olson, Anita Fradine, Karen Sweeney.

Individual Performances in the Annual Tournament of Plays: Best actor, Frank Jay; Best actress, Linda Dugas; Best supporting actress, Kathleen Rogers; Best supporting actor, Michael Champa; Director, Mr. Sapir.

Casting stones in the Junior Class Play "The Lottery": Audrey McGillicuddy, Paula Medeiros. Photography: Frank Maioli.

FUTURE TEACHERS CLUB

The Future Teachers Club under the guidance of Mr. Santoro proves itself to be a rewarding experience. The members have worked with the sixth-graders, have had meetings with student teachers, and planned a field trip. The officers of this club are: President, Diane Hayward; Vice-President, Nancy Hart; Secretary, Anne Callanan; and Treasurer, Cynthia Lynch.

Beverly Burke works with sixth-graders as part of FTA program of activities.

This year's varsity football certainly proved that a desire to win and excel on the football field is not totally lacking at Stoughton. Though outweighed and outpersonnelled, but never outhearted, the Black Knights fought back until the very last. The games were exciting due to the spirited and hard-hitting defensive play, together with some dazzling running and passing.

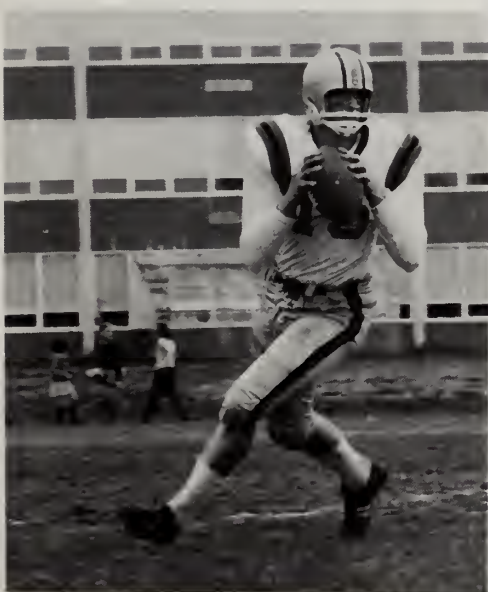

The outlook for next year is a most promising one. A veteran line is returning along with some fine freshmen. At the team's breakup function, Alan Crosby and John O'Donnell were elected captains for next season.

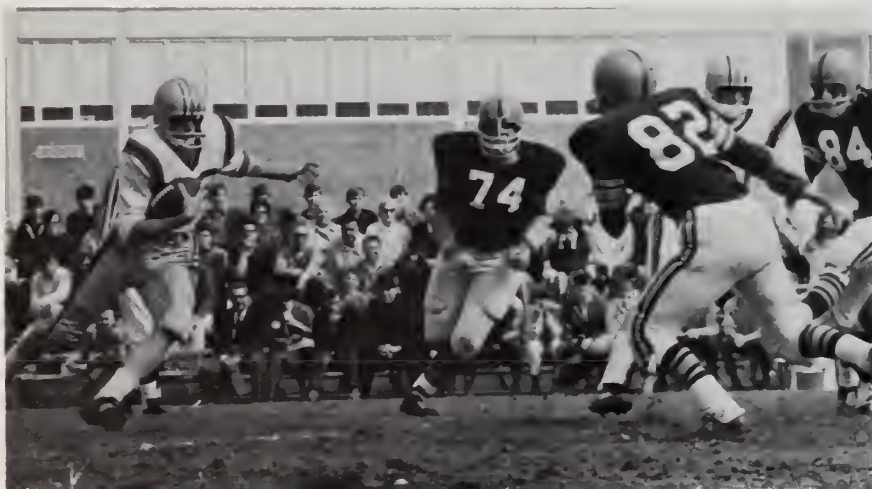

Under Head Coach John Bamberry and his assistants, all new to the school, the Knights had to learn a new system. Bamberry, who came here from an assistant's post at the University of Massachusetts, installed an I-formation which was explosive when rolling. His team provided the fans with many thrills throughout the fall.

After an impressive start, the squad struggled through an injury-plagued season to attain a 3-6 record. In the last game of the season, for example, the team was unable to use six starters, on offense and defense.

SALUTE TO THE CHAMPS

For the second year in a row, the basketballers at Stoughton High showed the way to the other teams in the Hockomock League. The boys played inspiring ball, and gave the fans many outstanding moments. Highlights were the games in which they went over the century mark for the first time in school history, the win over Oliver Ames before a packed house (and closed-circuit TV), the comeback against Sharon, and the opening Tech Tourney victory over Plymouth-Carver. The girls sprung one of the biggest upsets in history when they defeated Hanover High, a perennial winner in basketball. Congratulations to the boys and girls and to Coaches Edmonston and Lombardi!

GOLF

Howard Liber, Bruce Douglas (co-captain), John Curry (captain), Ed Bobigian, Tom Kizner, Dan Sullivan, Jim Colman, Richard Baglole, Brian Duffy, John Bomhard, Mike Duffy, Coach LaVelle.

No one paid much attention to last year's golf team, but they were one of the bright spots in Spring athletics. Led by now departed seniors Neil Young, Buddy Dyke, and John Williams, the team piled up a 9-4-1 record, and tied Sharon for 2nd place.

Of the 15 members this year, 8 are returning veterans. 3 of the newcomers are seniors and will only be competing this year. The rest will be back in the future to bolster the team. Captain John Curry "70" and Co-Captain Bruce Douglass "71" feel that all in all the team will be as good as, if not better than last year's.

The coach, an able golfer himself, Mr. Dale LaVelle, is quoted as saying, "They're a fine group of hackers, and if we have any luck at all, we'll go a long way. That's if the snow ever melts".

To wrap things up, it looks pretty interesting for the S.H.S. Golf Team. Here's wishing them lots of luck in the "69" season.

DIVISION OF THE DUPLAN CORPORATION

DEDICATION

The importance of a Centennial lies not in the mere act of the celebration of a hundredth anniversary.

Shall we sit back and congratulate ourselves on being the hundredth class to graduate from Stoughton High School? We had nothing to do with it! The Centennial should not be just one mammoth birthday party. It should provide an opportunity to look at the past. It is also a reminder to us that we have an obligation to look to the future.

We can look at the old pictures in this section and we can laugh at the funny hair styles and the strange clothes. Laugh, but then stop! Think . . . what else besides these nostalgic memories shall we retain from yesterday? There were differences other than strange styles between our age and those which have preceded us. There were things worth retaining, and there were things that are just as well relegated to the memory section of a yearbook and nothing more. Which of these shall we choose?

What shall we of today leave for tomorrow? What concerns us most today? Is it money or is it mankind? Will we leave an even more affluent society for tomorrow than was left to us? Will we leave an even more humane society than was left to us?

Yesterday's record follows. It has led to today and its concerns. What is promised for tomorrow, none of us knows.

We dedicate our Centennial Section with a fervent hope that we will concern ourselves with the worthwhile problems of today—that out of this concern will come a tomorrow with encouraging promise.

A Beginning Shrouded in Controversy

1854 State requires every town containing 500 families to maintain a high school.

1858 $800 appropriated for purpose of establishing a high school. This school was to be kept six months in Stoughton Village (the Centre) and four months in East Stoughton (now Avon.)

The opponents of the measure (most of whom refused to be taxed for such "nonsense")

Mr. Arthur Penardi

called a special meeting and the vote was rescinded.

1860 Friends of the proposed high school brought action before the Grand Jury in July. Even though the violation was obvious, the court chose to ignore the complaint.

1861 The advent of the national catastrophe stirred the emotions of Stoughtonites, and brought an end to controversy over the high school. The status quo was preserved throughout the Civil War.

1865 With the war over, additional pressure finally succeeded. The town appropriated $1500 for two schools: $900 for Centre, $600 for East Stoughton. A feeble attempt to rescind was beaten down.

In May, 1865, Stoughton High School first assembled with 24 pupils. F. F. Parker was first principal; the location was the old Drake School (then on Washington Street opposite School Street.)

1868 The first class graduated three from high school: Claude Wilson, Amelia M. Clifton, Abbie Anderson.

1869 F. F. Parker returned to the study of medicine. Aaron Lovell assumed the high school responsibility.

1871 William H. White was high school principal. A new set of by-laws on truancy was enacted.

1872 The state passed a law regulating courses of study in attempt to standardize education.

1873 A new combination high and grammar school was built on Walnut street. In 1880, it was named for town's benefactor, Lucius Clapp. J. B. Poole was principal, followed by W. G. Crosby.

1883 The Stoughton High School Association was formed. President was Dr. W. O. Faxon; vice-president, E. A. Jones; treasurer, William Atherton; secretary, Azubah Capen; Executive committee: Carrie Ballon, Charles W. Welch, D. H. Standish.

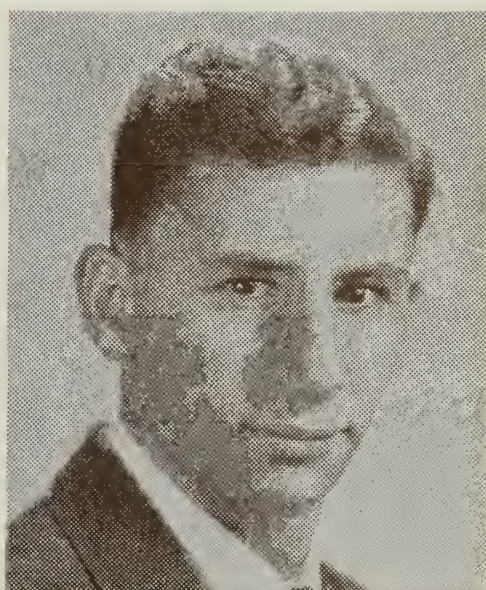

Membership was highly regarded, sought after, and welcomed. It held first place in the social life of the town for 40 years. The high points in Stoughton were the association banquet in early fall and the Reunion Ball on the Friday evening following Thanksgiving.

Lack of enrollment—particularly boys!

1885 Free textbooks introduced.

1890 New requirements were established for admission to High School. Three written examinations, one during each term of the ninth grade were required to enter high school. A report was published in the same year, deploring the scarcity of young men in the high school. The high school had only 62 pupils.

Only one student was graduated: Miss Jennie G. Carpenter.

(This scarcity of male attendance at the high school was to continue for years. For example, in 1913, out of 16 graduates, 13 were girls and only 3 were boys.)

1891 A new era opened with a professional superintendent, and three towns (Stoughton, Sharon, Mansfield) sharing the costs. Edward P. Fitts was appointed as superintendent.

1891 The report of the new superintendent was critical. It revealed lack of fundamentals: language, spelling, arithmetic, were deficient; and history and geography were criticized as indefinite.

1891 School Committee voted tuition fee for out-of-town pupils. The rate was set at fifty cents per week.

1894 Once again, there was concern about the lack of interest in the high school. There were only 40 pupils on the rolls in all classes. A. M. Strong was principal.

1896-1899

The new Clapp High School; football starts

1896 The high school building was destroyed by fire on January 7. It was a complete loss. The school moved to the Town Hall. On November 30, 1896, the new Clapp High School opened. It cost $14,521.01.

Physical culture was added to the curriculum. The gymnasium was in the unfinished attic. There was no instructor for the boys; George Warwick, Jr., a senior, was the leader. The equipment consisted of horizontal bars, sets of dumb bells and Indian clubs, spring board, mats, chest weights.

The first football team was organized.

The results of the course adopted in 1890 met the approval of the State Board of Examiners. The school authorities were told that the system with a principal and two assistants was necessary to retain the rating.

1898 The high school increased sessions to 40 weeks.

Arthur D. Arnold, M.A., was principal and taught Greek, Latin, and mathematics; Bertha S. Martin, B.S., taught Latin, French, and science; Anna L. Whitehead, M.E., taught English, elocution, and physical culture; Grace E. Southwarth was drawing instructor, and Elizabeth M. Cook, music.

1899 The principal, in his report, rejoiced at the record registrations. The number of pupils was now 137.

1900-1910

Poor discipline in schools; Kimball High School!

1900 The School Committee recommended a new high school. The report claimed deterioration in scholarship in the lower grades because of crowding.

1902 By this time, the schools were badly overcrowded. Discipline was impaired. There was even conversation about closing the school down because of inability to control the youngsters. A new school was built to relieve congestion, and was named for Henry C. Kimball, for years a member of the school committee and Superintendent of Schools.

Kimball High School came into being when Stoughton's population was 5442. It had 19 (one- and two-room) schools housing 702 pupils. The school appropriation was $17,735 and the cost per capita $21.91.

1903 Kimball High School opened April 13, 1903. Louis G. Whitten was principal.

1905 The Ninth grade curriculum was revised to blend with high school courses.

1906 Principal H. R. Eaton demanded a well-defined course of study, claiming the elective system was outmoded and too burdensome.

1908 Teacher salary averaged $10 per week. The Superintendent asked for patience because of the depression.

1910 Student teachers from Bridgewater Normal School were introduced in teams of three with critic. The History of Stoughton was the initial lecture in a series of supplementary lectures on practical affairs related to town life. An attempt was made to introduce an industrial course. The plan was dropped; it was not regarded as feasible here.

Football abolished; World War I

1912 New law passed for state assistance to any high school with agriculture departments of at least 15 students. Growth of the high school demanded use of the entire Kimball Building.

1915 The superintendency for three towns ended. Supt. Fitts resigned and Robert K. Bennett was appointed for Stoughton only. The grammar school was reduced to eight grades, and June 24 saw the last graduation of the old system's ninth grade.

1916 Sewing and mechanical drawing were introduced as regular subjects. A school savings bank started in November.

In the fall, Principal Stimson Wyeth announced abolition of football to the school assembly. Took too much away from academics, he said, and besides, he had enough to do without coaching the team, a task he would have to assume since he was the only male on the faculty.

The superintendent begged the community to provide a new high school. Overcrowding was serious. It was many years before the community responded.

School gardens appeared on the scene as World War I loomed.

1917 Stimson Wyeth resigned to enlist in the Engineers. John B. Pugsley, principal, pointed to the course of study as extremely burdensome. The electives increased in number every year. Credits for conduct toward graduation were eliminated, since society assumed pupils of high school age to be mature in that respect.

The New High School On Pearl Street is Dedicated

1919 R. E. Pomeroy was principal, and Linville W. Robbins, superintendent. The annual report stated, "The high school, whose fortunes were at such a low ebb a few years ago, is now much more successful as the highest part of our educational system."

The enrollment was 224; girls numbered 123, and boys 101. There were nine teachers on the faculty.

1920 Principal Pomeroy pointed out that he hadn't lost his interest in athletics but his duties as principal were being hampered because he was asked to coach baseball and basketball.

Student enrollment showed 60% in the commercial course, and 40% about equally divided between college, scientific, and general courses.

1922 Football was reinstated with Ralph Lehan as volunteer coach. The team played two and three times a week. It won 12 and lost 2 (to the Brockton Seconds)

1923 Dedication of the new high school (the present A Building) on the site of the former Bird property on Pearl Street took place on Saturday, September 8. Building and 21 acres cost $150,000. John W. Woods donated $10,000 for a playing field.

1925 Roy S. Haggard is principal.

1926 The Semaphore noted the 200th anniversary of the founding of the town of Stoughton with an historical document listing all graduates until that time.

CLASS OF 1930

1929-1949

Depression and War Worries; Guidance Introduced

1929 After several years of endeavor, the school committee voted to eliminate the shop department of the high school as inadequate and too costly.

1930 Warren B. Lyman is named as new superintendent. The appropriation for all schools was $112,322. A kindergarten was established. A junior high school (later named for Edwin A. Jones) was erected. Evening school was abolished in view of little interest.

1932 The kindergarten closed after two fruitful years. Hard times were at hand. Salaries and wages were reduced 10% because of the depression.

1933 The "little red schoolhouse" was on its way out, as the Atherton and Dry Pond Schools, both in rural areas, were closed.

1935 The school committee expressed its despair over the problems created by hard times and rising costs. The government aided through ERA and CWA projects.

1939 The decline in school population was noted in his annual report by Supt. Lyman. In 1930 there were 897 pupils in all schools; by 1930 the enrollment had dropped to 780.

1944 The annual report pointed to effects of war conditions on personnel, teacher loss, priorities. The minimum teachers salary was raised by the legislature from $850 to $1200.

1947 After 18 years, Warren Lyman resigned as superintendent of schools, warning of a crisis in education and almost total lack of interest by the people.

1948 Joseph Gibbons was appointed new superintendent of schools. The cost of operating the schools had risen to $195,981.

1949 The guidance program was initiated, with Aaron Fink as the Guidance Director. Increased school enrollment brought about adoption of double sessions.

25th REUNION—CLASS OF 1930

1952-1969

Double-sessions, Additions, and Championships.

1952 The high school adopted a six-year plan embracing grades 7 to 12. Two wings (the present B Building) were added to the school.

1953 Howard R. Randall, who served 24 years (longest in school history) resigned as principal because of sickness. Aaron Fink was named as principal. The National Honor Society was inaugurated.

1954 The best football team in the history of Stoughton High School compiled a record of 8-0-0 under the coaching of Albert J. "Tuck" Twomey, Class of 1939. The record: Archbishop Williams 26-0, Coyle 33-7, Braintree 38-13, Abington 32-14, North Attleboro 24-7, Walpole 28-6, Dover, N.H., 19-7, Canton 13-0.

1955 Another new wing (C) added to the high school.

1959 Thomas J. Whalen assumes duties as principal.

1964 Graduates were still saddened at assassination of John F. Kennedy during senior year. Overcrowding saw half on the ninth grade remain in the new Junior High.

1965 Double session again. The ninth grade met in the afternoon; remainder finished school day at noon.

1966 The newest additions opened. The D and E wings featured an up-to-date science wing with greenhouse and an auditorium which brought a dormant drama program to life.

1967 Thomas Whalen moved to assistant superintendent; Dr. Peter J. Sperandio became 28th principal of Stoughton High School. The baseball team won the state Class B championship.

1968 Six students were finalists in the National Merit Scholarship competition; the basketball team lost in a double overtime in the Tech Tourney finals.

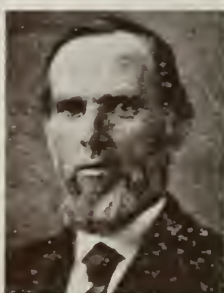

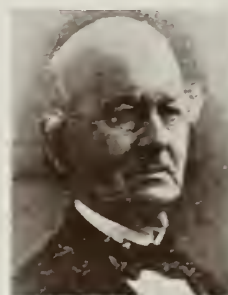

1969 A 232-page yearbook featured the centennial observation.
